[Upbeat intro music that fades out]

Hi everyone!

I'm your host, Sabrina Lotfi, and you're listening to LitTea, a podcast for writers dedicated to querying and publishing transparency through agent and author interviews.

With agents, we'll discuss everything from common pitfalls and red flags, and what to expect from an author-agent relationship, to agency staff and sub rights, how editorial they are, and what they're excited to see in their inboxes.

With authors, we'll discuss their querying journeys, their favorite writing tips and tricks, and what they wish they'd known before they started querying.

To summarize: I'm here to spill all the LitTea.

[upbeat music ends]